GROWING DEMAND IN QUEBEC: ARCTIC SNOWPLOWS OPENS NEW FACILITY

London, Ontario – Arctic Snowplows announced today the opening of a Quebec regional office and warehouse in Pointe-Claire, Quebec, to help support Arctic’s continued growth in Quebec and the Maritimes.

“Through the new office, we’ll be better able to serve our rapidly growing network of new dealers throughout the region,” said Dan Armstrong, President, Arctic Snowplows.

Jeff Bones, Regional Sales Manager for Quebec and the Maritimes, will oversee the office and warehouse. Bones joined Arctic’s sales team in 2008, and in a short period of time, has signed on 19 new dealers in the region: 13 dealers in Quebec, three in New Brunswick and three in Nova Scotia.

“We’re in an excellent position to provide the eastern regions of Canada with our broad range of tough equipment, including our new galvanized plows and spreaders,” Bones said.

Since it was founded in 1969, Arctic Snowplows has become Canada’s premier manufacturer of snowplows for the light truck market, earning a reputation for design innovation, durability, value pricing, attentive service and the best warranty in the industry.
